

DKverse Contribution Terms

Version 1.0 - June 25, 2026

Draft for business discussion only. This document is not legal advice and should be reviewed by qualified counsel before use.

Purpose

These contribution terms are intended to keep the public DKverse repository clean and commercially usable. They apply to all contributions, pull requests, issues, discussions, suggestions, code, documentation, designs, diagrams, bug reports and other materials submitted to the repository or to the maintainer.

1. Contribution License

By submitting any contribution to DKverse, You grant Rafael Minuti a perpetual, worldwide, irrevocable, sublicensable, transferable, royalty-free, fully paid-up license to use, reproduce, modify, adapt, publish, translate, distribute, publicly perform, publicly display, make derivative works from, commercialize, license and otherwise exploit the contribution in connection with DKverse or any related project, product, service or business.

2. No Compensation

Unless a separate written agreement signed by Rafael Minuti states otherwise, contributions are voluntary and no compensation, royalty, equity, employment, authorship credit, consulting fee or other payment is owed for any contribution.

3. Contributor Representations

By contributing, You represent that:

- You have the right to submit the contribution and to grant the rights described in these terms.
- The contribution does not knowingly infringe any third-party copyright, trademark, trade secret, patent, privacy, publicity or contractual right.
- The contribution does not include secrets, passwords, API keys, tokens, private user data, confidential information or material that You are not authorized to disclose.
- The contribution does not knowingly include malicious code, malware, spyware, backdoors, credential harvesters or intentionally harmful functionality.
- If the contribution includes third-party code or materials, You have clearly disclosed the applicable license and source.

4. Review and Rejection

Rafael Minuti or the repository maintainer may accept, reject, edit, remove, relicense, reorganize or decline any contribution at any time and for any reason.

5. No Partnership or Employment

Submitting a contribution does not create any partnership, employment, agency, fiduciary, joint venture, franchise, advisory, management, control or representative relationship with Rafael Minuti or DKverse.

6. Public Nature of Contributions

Contributions to a public repository may become public. Do not submit confidential, proprietary, personal, regulated or sensitive information.

7. Security Issues

Do not publicly disclose exploitable security vulnerabilities before they can be reviewed. Security reports should be sent privately to the maintainer contact identified in the repository.

8. Inbound = Outbound; Commercial Reserved

Unless otherwise stated in writing, contributions are received under these contribution terms and may be distributed under the DKverse Source-Available Non-Commercial License or under separate commercial licenses issued by Rafael Minuti.